PLASTIC MAYBE FANTASTIC, BUT WOOD IS JUST AS GOOD

Only 9%

of the world's plastic waste is recycled. The rest goes straight to landfill. Another portion is not recycled, incinerated, or kept in landfills.

Microplastics

end up in the environment. Damaging cells and disrupting the organ functions. Allowing other harmful substances absorbed into the body.

Resistant

to harmful materials. Kitchen utensils made of wood are safe from bacteria, unlike plastic and other metal utensils that easily attract bacteria them.

No Deforestation

because production forests are designated to provide wood for products so they aren't taking from forests.

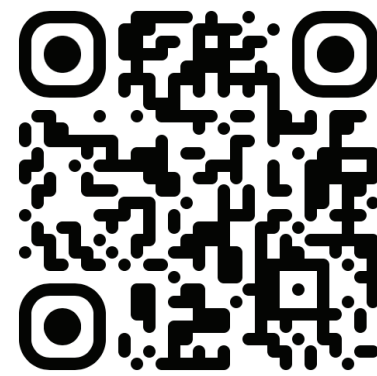

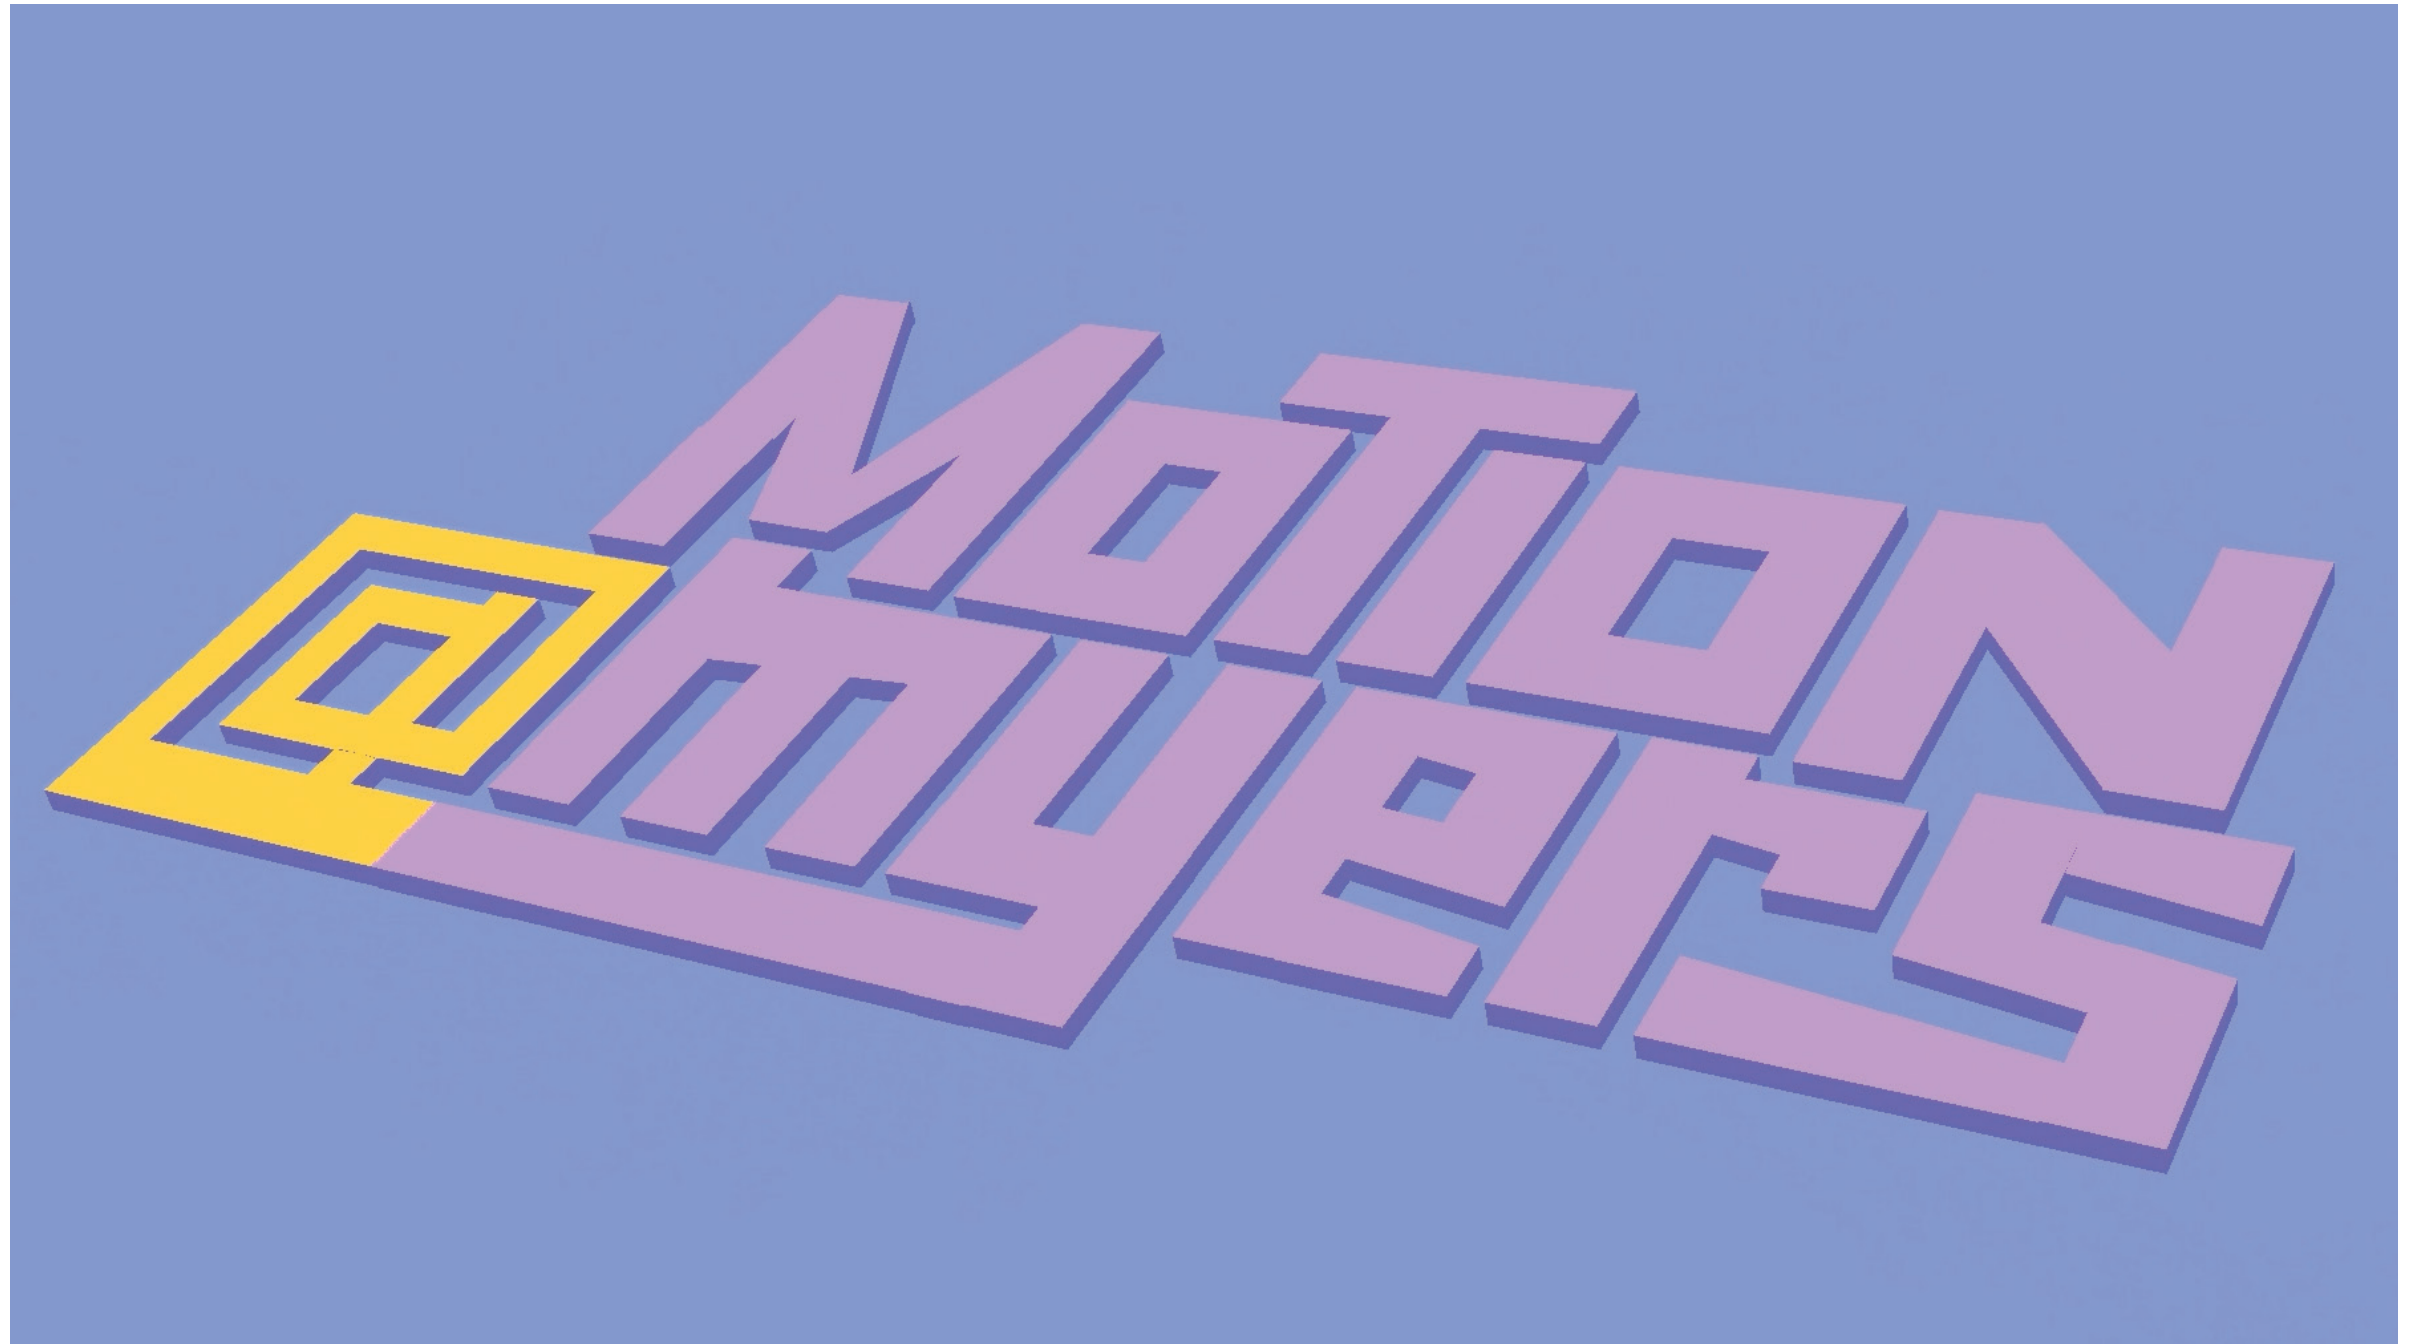

Reduce

the load of non-biodegradable materials. They're renewable and friendly in all environments.

WORLD'S DISCARDED PLASTICS

Waste management varies greatly. Incineration is high in Europe, while three-quarters of plastics in the United States go to landfills.
